THE NORTHERN MAIL failed yesterday afternoon from all points beyond Richmond. The weather, probably, has delayed the trains.

CAUGHT IN THE TOILS .- Two enterprising freedmen, who rejoiced in the aristocratic cognomens of John Paimer and Henry Huger alias Rhett, so far forgot the dignity belonging to their names as to indulge in the ignoble strap game. They encountered a colored brother who was not up to the ways of the world and succeeded in fleecing him of a pundle of dry goods, which he rashly bet on the result of the experiment. This loss was sufficient to exasperate the injured individual, who reported the facts to the detectives, and Palmer and Rhest were soon furnished quarters where they will be constrained to discontinue their little games for a season.

QUICK WORK .- The steamship Sea Gull, which left Baltimore on Saturday last, came through safely, although delayed ten hours in the bay by heavy weather, and arrived at her wharf at about 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. It was decided not to unload, as the following day would be a general holiday, but, as a gentleman who stood on the wharf expressed some regret at this delay in the delivery of his freignt, Captain Dutton ordered the hatches to be taken off, and, with the assistance of his chief officer and the stevedore, Mr. Stoddard, started out a lot of fifteen barrels of ale, which were sent to Augusta by the night train, and reached that city early yesterday morning. This is quick work, and it speaks well for the rehability of the Baltimore line, as well for the courtesy of its officers.

E AN ENTERTAINMENT AT THE ACADEMY OF THE SISTERS OF MERCY.-The pupils in the Academy of the Sisters of Mercy, on Queen.street, intend to give to-day an entertalument to the orphan children in charge of the Sisters at the upper end of the city. There will be something substantial for the little orphans, and; afterwards, they will be treated to a series of tableaux which will be represented by the young ladies of the academy. These things are secrets of State, but it is announced that the preparations show that the tableaux will be strikingly beautiful.

The Sisters of Mercy appreciate the value of grample and practice; and, in teaching their pupils to exercise the greatest of all virtues, they are giving them a lesson that will be of more enduring benefit than any worldly knowledge.

THE CITY POLICE FORCE UNDER THE REDUC-TION .- In accordance with the recent enactment of the City Council the police force in this city was yesterday reduced to one hun- if the colored Leople will but hearken to such labor-saving machines recently invented, and dred men and eight sergeants. Lieutenant J. moderate leaders, and not submit themselves which are now in general use. At this time B. Whaley, of the upper guardhouse, was to the influence of designing and bad men, most persons are preparing to plant their dropped by Council, and Lieut has been assigned to his place. At the main guardhouse Sergeants Wade, Wescoat, Poulnot and stewart and thirty men have been relieved from duty, leaving four sergeants and seventy men at this post. Sergeants Sexton, Tenent, Smith and Brabham, with twenty men, have been relieved from the upper wards, leaving four sergeants and thirty men for duty there. At each post there is also an orderly sergeant and assistant. The duty that the action of Council devolved upon the Chief of Police was a painful and delicate one, but one the performance of which was imperatively demanded by the pressure of the times. It is believed that the members of the police who have been retained constitute the most vigilant and useful portion of a force, which, taken as a whole, has uniformly been distinguished for efficiency and fidelity.

THE LATE STORMY WEATHER .- Since Sunday last the weather on the coast has been quite severe, and the steamships, particularly those bound North, having to travel in the teeth of the wind, have been sorely obstructed in their route by the heavy northeasterly gales. The steamship Saragossa, which left this port for New York on Sunday morning last, returned here yesterday, having steamed against the gale until her coal got so low that she was compelled to put back for a new supply. The steamship Charleston, from New York, experienced the blow in great force, and was compelled to lay too for about twenty hours, dules will be of great service. but she reached here yesterday in good time. The steamship Sea Gull, from Baltimore, which arrived here on Tuesday, had the sea and wind very high, but was enabled to come through in her regular time without damage. The steamship Frances, from Baltimore for Wilmington, N. C., had a severe gale from the northeast for twenty-seven hours, commencing on Sunday evening, but she was finally beached about eight miles from Wilmington (N. C.) New linlet bar, where she is high and dry, and will probably be a total loss.

The different colored fire companies were by far the most showy, as has commenced and remember their promises. their uniforms were bright and in pleasing contrast to the mixed appearance of the civic yesterday, and the act was attested by a numsocieties.

The streets were in a fearful state, the mud | list published in the News this morning. was soft, slimy and adhesive, and the marshals had great difficulty in arranging their forces without bemixing them and spoiling the glory of their attire. As the church was only a short distance from the corner, there was, properly speaking, no extended parade, and the marching and countermarching on Meeting-street was done with the intention of arranging the procession.

The companies, as they came on the ground, were preceded by music, and the sound attracted a large crowd of spectators, principally colored, who clustered around the corners and in the vicinity of the church until the conclusion of the ceremonies. They could hear nothing, and many of them were too closely packed to see more than a foot beyond their noses; but the day, the occasion, and, more than all, the pleasure of forming a part of a large crowd were sufficient inducements to cause there to remain.

The procession, what there was of it, was very creditable. The firemen were dressed in their gay uniforms and bore banners with the names of their companies and the date of organization. One military company (unarmed) was present, and in addition to a United States flag bore a banner "with a strange device." It had the necessary stripes, but in the centre of the blue union was a single gold star. The Masons were headed by a venerable brother, who carried an open Bible, a brass candlestick and candle and a sword. The Mechanics' Association had a very neat and tasteful banner of blue, embroidered with gold. The other societies had no distinct mark, and were last in the crowd that surged on all sides. Notwithstanding the muddy condition of the streets they were filled with people, who pressed forward anxious to obtain a look, and careless of their own clothes or their neighbor's toes. The marshals had great difficulty in opening the way to the church, and it was fully one before the host were seated.

The church had been guarded by a select committee from an early ar in the morning, but their efforts to keep the doors closed and the crowd from entering were futile. They would see and hear, and before the arrival of the procession the seats were well filled. The committee were frantic, but after herculean exertions they succeeded in accommodating all to a square inch of room, and the ceremonies commenced.

A prayer was delivered by the Rev. Edward Laurens, colored, and the Emancipation Proclamation read by Samuel Dickerson, colored, who afterwards introduced the orator of the day, Rev. F. L. Cariozo, colored.

The oration, as was natural on such an occasion, was a review of the condition of the colored man in a state of servitude and at the present time. The orator dilated on the advantages of freedom, and advised his hearers to cherish this boon and show to the world and farmers with pure seeds of all varieties ed and the advice tendered were both good, and cultural implements, including the various enabled to improve their present condition. After the oration was concluded, the different companies and societies escorted each other to their halls, the Union League being headed by Peter Miller, known to this community as a popular musician in Kershaw's regiment the Second South Carolina Volunteers. The day was closed with a ball given by the Prudence Fire Company, at the Military Hall. The Comet Fire Company appeared in the procession with a new banner, which had been presented to them during the morning.

THE ARRIVAL AND DEPARTURE OF TRAINS. This species of information is peculiarly valuable to the travelling public, who are anxious to know the precise time when the different trains arrive and leave the city. A carefully prepared schedule of the different railroads has been furnished to the News, and can be found in another column. The reader will find therein not only the time at which the trains leave Charleston, but also the hours at which they arrive at and depart from their other termini. To a traveller, who is always an anxious inquirer on this subject, the published sche-

THE CHARLESTON.-This fine steamship arrived yesterday morning, after a very trying passage. She left New York at 4 P. M. on Saturday last, and had fine weather until Cape Romain was reached, about 3 P. M. Monday. After running for four hours through a gale which was steadily increasing in violence, and which began with a furious squall at 2 P. M., the vessel was laid to with her head to the wind, in which position she remained for twenty-four hours. The ship behaved well, and Captain Berry did all that a thorough seaman and courteous gentleman could do for the security and comfort of his passengers.

THE I OSS OF THE STEAMSHIP FRANCES.—The Wilmington Star gives the following particulars of this disaster, already briefly reported by telegraph: The Frances sailed from Baltimore on Saturday, the 28th inst., with a light cargo of merchandise. Until she cleared the Capes, fair weather was experienced, but on Sunday a heavy northeast gale came on, the sea running very high. Hatteras was safely weathered, and tolerably smooth water found under its lea. After rounding Cape Lookout the gale increased in violence. The ship was headed northwest to take shelter under the lea of the Cape, but the wind drove her with irresistible force to the southward. Being so lightly laden she was not easily managed, and, as she approached Cape Fear, it became evident that she would inevitably be thrown on Frying Pan Shoals, where all hands would prob bly have been lost. The least of two evils was therefore chosen, and she was headed towards the coast with the hopes of reaching New Iulet, but the strong gale claw her on to the beach, where she lay broadsids to the sea at last accounts; the waves making clear br aches over her. All hands were saved, and the mate was left in charge of the ship while the captam came to the city for day, the 28th inst., with a light cargo of merwere saved, and the mate was left in charge of the ship while the captain came to the city for aid. The steam-tug Oldham was sent to her assistance, but it is not known whether the tug was enabled to feach her, as the sea ran very high through the day. The vessel will probably prove a total loss, but, if she holds together, a part of the cargo may be saved.

PLE—has been so for twenty years, and in man probability will be so for centuries to the man probability will be so for centuries that it is emphatically the medicine of the normal proved by its vest and ever increasing sales.

THE CHARLESTON HOTEL. -This popular caravansary, one of the earliest and best known both in the city and abroad, commenced the new year with a new proprietor. Major J. P. Horbach, the former energetic superintendent, has purchased the interest of the late Mr. White in the establishment and is now the sole proprietor. This change, though not unexpected, will be received with pleasure by al who have ever made this hotel their temporary home. As the superintendent, Major Horbach proved himself to be fully competent to manage the house, and in assuming the onerous duties of proprietor only changes for the better will be observed. In times past, when money was flush and the registers showed nightly two and three pages of arrivals, the Charleston was known and patronized by many who will be pleased to learn that the old house has not lost its prestige, as well as that, though un ler a new proprietor, the same comforts are assured them, and that the close attention of old will be paid to their material wants. While there are other hotels in the city that rank deservedly high, the memories of the past that cluster around the spacious verandah of the Charleston, the pleasant lobby, the old crystal palace and the comfortable rooms, will ever cause it to be considered one of the best resting places to be obtained-an oasis in a traveller's life.

> THE NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY-COMMENDABLE LIBERALITY. - Although persons are continually dyi. g, yet few expect they will soon be called, and therefore are little inclined, by a present sacrifice, to provide against an evil which, though they know to be certain, they yet suppose to be dis.ant. The benefits to be derived from Life Insurance are, however, becoming daily better appreciated; and the fair dealing and prompt payment made by compa nies, even on losses for which they might not be legally liable, has inspired general confidence in their system and practice. As an instance, we publish, by permission, the following interesting letter:

OWEN SOUND, CANADA WEST December, 1867. To Thomas Frost, Fsq., Agent for South Car-ouna of the New York L fe Insurance Como.ma of the New York Life Insurance Company:

Dear Sire—I hereby acknowledge payment in full of the policy of the New York Life Insurance Company, No. 40,115, for ten thousand dollars ($10,000), on the life of my deceased husband, Adam B. Glover, insured December, 1866, and terminated May, 1887.

In view of the questions which might have arisen in the case, I regard the settlement as an act of noble liberality, becoming the high rank of the Company, as first in the order of establishment and assets of the Life Insurance Companies of the State of New York having agencies in South Caro-tina. Its twenty-two years of successful and distinguished operation must undoubtedly have been marked by many like acts of enlarged and generous conduct, to have won the confidence in its skill and integrity, with which the public is now so fully inspired.

fully inspired.

So grateful is my realization of the benefit of Life insurance, in my present bereaved and reduced, from lately blessed and affluent condition, that I cannot forbear recommending its adoption to all in whatever circumstances. The affliction I have experienced was in no way anticipated either by my lamented husband or myself; and it is due to you to say that it was only by your advice and persuasion that he was induced to effect the insurance. I believe it an institution providentially designed for the benefit of women and children. with my best wishes for the continued usefulness and spread of your Company, I am, most gratefully yours,

ANNIE B. GLOVER.

Fancy the Dismay Which would prevail in thousands of households if it should be suddenly announced throughout the United States, Canadas, the West Indies and Spanish America that no more HUSTEITER'S BITTERS would be manufactured, and that henceforth the GRAND SPECIFIC FOR DESPEPSIA, and preventive of all malartous diseases would be LOST TO THE WORLD! The billous, the feeble, the despondent; the traveller, the voyager, the miner, the sedentary student; the settler on the frontier of civilization; the toiler cooped up in crowded city tenements; the convales cent, needing an invigorant; the shivering victim of ague, and the nervous of both sexes overywhere, would learn with grief, too deep for words, that the most celebrated corrective, invigorant and alterative of the sge had been blotted out of existence. As a PREPARATORY ANTIDOTE to epidemic disease, a genia stimulant, a promoter of constitutional vigor, an appetizer, a stomachic, and a remedy for nervous debility, no medicinal preparation has ever attained the reputation of HOSTEITER'S BITTERS. It is the BOUSEHOLD TONIO of the AMERICAN PEO-PLE-has been so for twenty years, and in all human probability will be so for centuries to come.
